FUND MANAGER'S REVIEW

Market Review

The MGS yield curve bull flattened for the month with the 5 and 10 year benchmark shading lower by 16 and 10 bps respectively. The closing yields were 2.89%, 3.70% and 4.25% for the key 3, 5 and 10 year sovereign benchmarks. Investor sentiment continues to improve for corporate bonds, with majority of trades seen along the yield curve on familiar AAA and AA rated corporate names. Corporate yield curve shifted lower by approximately 10 bps. The July CPI fell sharply -2.40% year on year, marking the second consecutive negative reading for inflation. The month-on-month (seasonally un-adjusted) inflation reading remained unchanged from June at 0.1%, suggesting that the more severe year on year fall was largely due to base effects. Market is generally in consensus that either July or August will mark the trough in year on year technical deflation, as base effects wear off (inflation peaked last year at 8.5% year on year in July and August 2008). Beating market estimates, the second quarter GDP fell 3.9% year on year, decelerating from a 6.2% decline in 1Q09. Improvement was also reported in the unemployment figures, with retrenchments appearing to have peaked in 1Q09. Retrenchments fell from 12,590 in 1Q09 to 7,470 in 2Q09. Average wages in manufacturing, which saw the most retrenchments, have climbed in 2Q09 after taking a hit in 4Q08. In addition, the Leading Index inched up 1.7% month on month in Jun-09, after remaining unchanged in May-09. As expected, Bank Negara maintained the Overnight Policy Rate (OPR) at 2.0% with the MPC cautiously stating that they expect a recovery by the 2H09 and 2010.

Manager's Comments

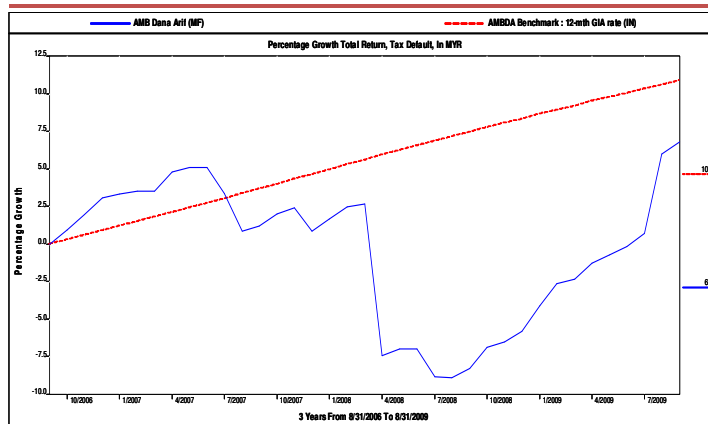

Our strategy remains unchanged for the near term. Although the economy appears to have bottomed, we maintain that central banks around the world (as well as our own central bank) will be reluctant to raise rates; hence the interest rate environment will remain benign for the foreseeable future. We expect the sovereign market to trade range bound, due to lack of new leads. Excess liquidity and pent up demand will continue to drive corporate bond yields lower as real investors search for yield against the backdrop of technical deflation. New corporate bond issuances has also improved, providing much needed price discovery and diversification of names in the secondary corporate bond market. Our strategy remains unchanged. We overweight corporate bonds, and adopt a trading stance on sovereign bonds.

Based on the fund's portfolio returns as at 15 August 2009, the Volatility Factor (VF) for this fund is 7.4 and is classified as "Low" (source: Lipper). "Low" includes funds with VF that are above 4.765 but not more than 12.460. The VF means there is a possibility for the fund in generating an upside return or downside around this VF. The Volatility Class (VC) is assigned by Lipper based on quintile ranks of VF funds. VF is subject to monthly revision and VC will be revised every six months. The fund's portfolio may have changed since this date and there is no guarantee that the fund will continue to have the same VF or VC in the future. Presently, only funds launched in the market for at least 36 months will display the VF and its VC.
